To Father Corby Will Be Lasting Monument to Irish Brigade.

Bronze Tablet on Battlefield of Gettysburg to Be Erected.

Gave Absolution to Thousands of Dying on Historic Ground.

A POINEER OF NOTRE DAME

A movement has been started in Philadelphia to erect a monument on the battlefield of Gettysburg to the Rev. William Corby, C. S. C., who served as a Chaplain through the civil war. It is the intention of those most nearly interested that the monument shall stand everlastingly as a tribute to the strong devotion of the Catholic priests to the soldiers during the terrible years of civil strife, and incidentally commemorate one of the most striking acts of religion that ever took place on any battlefield—the giving of general absolution to a whole brigade just before they entered the battle.

The Gettysburg Memorial Commission, which has as President Gen. St. Clair Mulholland, who was an officer in the regiment of which Father Corby was Chaplain, has the erection of the monument in hand and is pushing the project vigorously. The plan already has the warm endorsement of Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop Ryan of Philadelphia, Bishop Shanahan of Harrisburg and Bishop Canevin of Pittsburgh, all of whom were among the earliest contributors. In his letter commending the action of the Commission, Archbishop Ryan said: "I heartily approve of the movement to perpetuate, by a permanent monument, the interesting incident of Father Corby by giving the blessing of the church to the brave members of the Irish Brigade as they were marching to fight the great battle of Gettysburg, which so helped to preserve the integrity of the nation. The scene of the Catholic priest blessing these soldiers will remain symbolic of the relations of Catholics to the State. They will pray for it, fight for it, and help by word and deed to preserve its integrity."

The commission will entrust the modeling of the statue to Samuel Murray, a sculptor of eminence in Philadelphia, who was the sculptor of the Barry statue in that city and who designed and executed the memorial arch erected by the State of Pennsylvania to soldiers of that Commonwealth who fell at Gettysburg. The statue of Father Corby will be of bronze, eight feet high, and will represent him giving absolution. The priest will be shown wearing the uniform of a Captain of cavalry, which was his rank. It is the hope of the commission that the statue will be ready for unveiling on July 10, 1910, when the grand memorial arch will be dedicated.

At the beginning of the war Father Corby was appointed as Chaplain of the Eighty-eighth New York Infantry, one of the regiments of the Irish Brigade. Previous to his appointment to the Chaplaincy Father Corby was serving as a professor in the University of Notre Dame, then struggling for an existence in the woods of Indiana. When the first draft was given on Fort Sumter and war was declared, the Rev. Father Edward Sorin, C. S. C., founder of Notre Dame, called his young priests about him and said there would be need of Chaplains for the soldiers. Although he could ill spare from the duties in the new college any of his young professors, he believed it was a patriotic obligation to make sacrifices in order that Catholic soldiers might have the benefits of the priest in fighting for the Union. Accordingly he chose six of the priests and sent them away with his blessing, and with those remaining he took up the added duties created by the departure of the six professors. Father Corby was one of these six who left Notre Dame.

His career during the war has been modestly told in a volume by himself called "Memoirs of a Chaplain's Life." He served with fine effect during the entire struggle and merited the praise of all the commanders who he met, to say nothing of the love he preserved in the hearts of the men in the ranks. When the war was over he returned to Notre Dame and resumed his place as professor. He was twice President of the university, and at the time of his death in 1897 he was Provincial of his order in America. The battle flag of the Irish Brigade was presented to the university a few years before he died, the living officers and men declaring that this precious relic should be preserved near the spot where they lived their old Chaplain who had loved and ministered to the men who fought beneath it.

The Irish Brigade was organized after the retreat of the Federal troops at Bull Run, and took part in nearly all the battles of the war. It originally numbered five thousand men, but only a few hundred returned to their homes when peace was proclaimed, so desperately did these brave Irish Catholics fight for the country in which they had found a home. The brigade was fortunate in its leader, the brilliant Gen. Thomas Francis Meagher, one of the most gallant soldiers who ever drew sword on the battlefields of America. It was the proud boast of the brigade that they never lost a flag and never showed their backs to the enemy. Whenever a desperate situation confronted Generals Sumner, Richardson, Hancock, Porter and Miles, who in turn commanded the First division, Second corps, to which the brigade was attached, they called on the men "with sprigs of green in their hats" to save the situation, and they were never disappointed. Among many of their notable achievements was the capture of the Sunken Roads, known as "Bloody Lane," for which they were specially mentioned in the dispatches by McClellan; the saving of the right wing of the army at Gaines Mills, and for this they were publicly praised by Fitz John Porter. At the battle of Fredericksburg the brigade entered the battle 3,000 strong, and when the conflict was over only 250 of these brave soldiers could answer the roll call. The brigade was almost wiped out of existence on that day. The officer detailed to bury the dead on that terrible occasion found the soldiers of the Irish Brigade lying within forty yards of the enemy's guns. Such was the valor of Irish Catholics during the civil war and to such men was Father Corby known as "the glorious priest."

FAIR DEALING.

President Roosevelt Commended by an Eminent Priest.

President Roosevelt received the Rev. Father A. P. Doyle, rector of the Apostolic Mission House, and twenty-five young Catholic clergymen at the White House on Saturday of last week. The President's reception of the visitors was very cordial and in introducing the young Levites Father Doyle took occasion to say: "With your permission let me take the opportunity of this audience, the last that will probably be given to us while you are our present Chief Executive, to acknowledge acts whereby you have manifested 'an even-handed justice to the Catholic citizens of the United States. Catholicism, as such, has never asked for any special favors under the constitution. They have desired simply and solely that they be treated as other good citizens and that no discrimination be made against them on account of their religion. During the sequestered that you have occupied the Presidential chair you have been the living embodiment of this principle, and while we are authorized in no sense to speak for the Catholic body, still it is quite possible to reflect in an informal and unofficial way the gratitude of the 22,000,000 Catholics of America, who live under the square dealing which you have meted out to the Catholic citizens of this land."

"In so dealing with our citizens without discrimination you have set a standard that the Presidents who succeed you must follow. In your journeying to other countries our prayers will follow you that you may return to us vigorous in body and strengthened in true Americanism by the observance of conditions elsewhere."

The President thanked his visitors for their expressions of good will.

ALEX'S REWARD.

Faithful Services of Engineer Remembered by Gov. Willson.

Miss Alice Cronin has been appointed one of the clerks with the State Board of Equalization at Frankfort. She is only eighteen years old and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex M. Cronin, of 2131 Garvin place. More than twenty years ago Hon. Augustus E. Willson espoused the cause of union labor before the Kentucky Legislature at the request of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Mr. Willson's activity and ability made him a favorite of the Democrats among the engineers vote the Republican ticket in national politics. In 1896 Alex M. Cronin organized the employees of the L. and N. from Cincinnati to New Orleans and McKinley and better wages, and was general manager of the line that went to Canton, Ohio, October 17, 1896, carrying more than 5,000 workmen from the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company's shops at New Orleans, New Decatur, Birmingham, Memphis, Nashville, Louisville and Covington. Mr. Cronin is a politician that has never sought an office, and one who never forgets a friendly act.

Miss Cronin is a bright and attractive young woman and is a graduate of Holy Name School, South Louisville, where the Rev. Father John T. O'Connor presides. She is the first lady to win a place in connection with the State Board.

WARM WELCOME.

The Right Rev. Bishop Muldoon is being warmly received wherever he appears in his new diocese of Rockford, Ill. Recently he made his first episcopal visit to the city of Belvidere and was accorded an enthusiastic reception in the opera house. An intensely cordial address on behalf of the Ministerial Association was made by Rev. W. L. Britton, Mayor Pierce and many other prominent non-Catholics joined in the welcome.

BRILLIANT IRISHMAN.

Tomorrow John J. Nolan will take the oath of office as Mayor of Evansville, Ind. He is now the City Comptroller and, in Southern Indiana, is regarded as one of the smartest Irishmen that ever came over. He is a man of standing in business circles, is prominent in the Elks and in Catholic societies, and well liked by the Germans. He will probably be elected to succeed himself at the end of the present term.

WORTHY

Is the Cause in Which Our Right Reverend Bishop Appeals For Aid.

Indian and Negro Missions Are Sadly in Need of Funds.

Collections at Diocesan Churches Tomorrow Will Be Generous.

AN EXAMPLE IN THE SOUTH

The Right Rev. William George McCloskey, Bishop of Louisville, has ordered a collection to be taken up at all the masses in the churches of the diocese tomorrow for the Indian and negro missions. Besides he has requested the pastors of the respective parishes to urge their flocks to contribute as liberally as their means will allow. In Kentucky the Indians are only of the past, but the negroes are always before our eyes, and to those who need real, live object lessons, the case of the unfortunate negroes is one that ought to make a strong appeal. The red man was here before the white man. The latter came and drove him out of his possessions. The white man came of his own accord, but the negro came, not voluntarily but as the slave of the white man. He has a soul to be saved as well as has the white man, and it is the duty of his more fortunate white brother to help him save that soul.

Along these lines the editor of the Colored Man's Friend, published at Galveston, Texas, recently wrote:

"Some time ago we met on a train a lawyer of one of the smaller towns of this State, with whom we have been personally acquainted for some years. After the usual handshake and greeting, this lawyer began to talk on the negro question, and said among other things:

"I have long wanted to tell you something which I know will interest you as well as other Catholics. We have a settlement of colored Catholics, about fifty or sixty families, between three and four miles from our town. These people came from Louisiana, and whilst most of them are renters, there are several who have succeeded in buying a piece of land. They are industrious and orderly, respectful toward their white neighbors, and their conduct is such that now we have not had a case in court from the whole colony. The difference between these negroes and others living in and around our town is like day and night, and I have often been wondering what could be the cause of such difference. I have come to the conclusion that it must be their religion which has changed them into such good people."

"You have just hit the nail on the head," we interrupted him; "it is the Catholic religion which changes the negro into a different man."

"But," the lawyer continued, "if this is the case, and your church is aware of it, why does it not make more efforts toward the conversion of the race? Colored people of this kind are welcome anywhere, and are trying to get as many of them as we can for our colony."

"Such is the statement of a Protestant Southerner about Catholic negroes. Should this not be an appeal to our Catholics to support the colored missions and, where possible, to have a part in the work of conversion and uplifting of the race?"

The appeal of our Right Rev. Bishop will doubtless meet with as generous response as the purses of the people permit.

SPLENDID TRIBUTE.

Able Editors Respect Men of Opposite Views in Warfare.

Newspaper editors may oppose each other on the firing line day after day, but the real editors respect each other personally and admire the fellows who fight fair. Hear this tribute from the editor of Collier's Weekly on Hon. Henry Watterson:

"Elasticity of mind and temperament has been the master-trait of Henry Watterson. Often we have jested about this veteran, because the high spirits in which he abounds are contagious; but now that the hand of fate is on him, humor is farthest from his mind into which his myriad friends are plunged. Death last autumn seized his much-loved son; his daughter had gone before; and now the warrior gives notice to the country that his own days for general gatherings are at an end. He describes himself as 'stranded and helpless and woefully unequal to any kind of publicity.' As he sits and watches the changing colors of the gulf, Mr. Watterson must find in the measureless waters and their refrains ever returning and returning, the summaries of destiny. 'Does the sun shine on me today that I may reflect on yesterday?'"

"It is Goethe's question, propounded many a time by every man who thinks at all. May Henry Watterson rebound from the blows with which fate has stricken him. May he be able from very misery itself to draw something of courage and new determination. Personal desire must weaken with each succeeding lesson which time and chance visit upon the sojourner in this vale; but there remains the thing in itself, the value of the choice, the way that is best; and in sending friendly greetings to Henry Watterson we would fain slip in a little ray of hope—a wish that for some years yet the ever gallant writer should hold his active post. Generations of men follow, even as billows in the sea, yet we would wish our own moment as completely as we may; and, therefore, would hold soldiers like Watterson in line of battle to the end."

SECRECY

Appears to Be the Motto of Our Present Reform City Administration.

If a Burglar Visits You Say Nothing About It in Public.

Police and Detectives Powerless to Prevent Epidemic of Burglaries.

ALL LOOKING FOR LIFTED LIDS

Louisville is suffering from an epidemic of burglaries, and the police and detectives seem powerless to prevent them. If some saloon-keepers are foolish enough to open their doors to customers on Sunday the police and detectives are Johnnies-on-the-spot. They even peep through keyholes to obtain evidence against alleged lift-lifters, but when the busy burglars burgle the police and detectives appear to be in bed or hitched to a post far from the scene of burglarious activity. There are also rumors of defection in the first department. Recently the brother of a county official who held a place in the first department got into trouble. Whisky and an unfortunate woman are said to be responsible for the trouble. He resigned in a huff. The matter was never made public. He has been reinstated, and that has not been published either. It is this perverted idea of secrecy that is demoralizing the city administration.

Four or five weeks ago the residence of an L. and N. railroad Company employee in the southern part of the city was entered by thieves and more than $400 worth of booty carried away. The burglar told his troubles at police headquarters and he was told: "If you want to get your stuff back, don't say anything about this to the newspaper men." He remained silent, but there are no signs of his property coming back.

Bourne & Bond's place, almost within sight of police headquarters, has been despoiled of firearms, and the police cautioned secretary H. J. Lammett's place, at 1601 West Market street, was entered Monday night and the burglars carried away jewelry and money to the aggregate value of $800. In describing this burglary the Louisville Times says: "The place where the robbery occurred is but a half-block from the residence of Acting Capt. Foster, and two blocks from the Fourth district police station. After the robbery poster and two men alleged to be detectives visited the place and said that the best way for him to recover his jewelry was to keep the matter away from the newspapers."

The Sinking Fund employees have won their case before the Court of Appeals. This was expected. The reformers have made a mess of things. They accused the old management of the Louisville Water Company of mismanagement and rottenness. They brought agents of a New York auditing agency to Louisville to investigate the company and to bring all the crookedness to light. These auditing agents gave the Democratic management a clean bill of health. In return they did not get the $27,000 fee they expected. Probably they will have had the fee and a bonus had they found anything crooked. These same reformers dismissed twenty policemen without trial. The police carried the matter to the Kentucky Court of Appeals. The reformers sought to oust the employees of the Sinking Fund, and the employees rebelled against the idea of giving up good jobs on summary notice. The Court of Appeals has sustained their contention. The reformers sought to oust, though less illustrious Richard, reason to soliloquize: "One would tread upon another's heels, so fast they follow."

On Thursday the Right Rev. Edmund M. Obrecht, Abbot of Gethsemane, left for the Holy Land. He left Louisville on Friday, spent several days in New York and on Thursday sailed for Havre. After some time spent in France the Abbot expects to go, as ordered, to Palestine, where he will inspect the monasteries of his order. Easter he expects to spend in Rome.

On his return to America Father Obrecht will be accompanied by the Right Rev. Bishop Augustine M. Marre, General of the Trappist order. There are four houses of the order in America and Bishop Marre will, in all probability, take Abbot Obrecht with him on his tour of inspection.

WOE! WOE!

That Is All That Is Before Liberals and Radicals at Present.

Premier Asquith's Power Is Shaken Before the Wind of Politics.

The Radicals Have Possible But Improbable Chance to Win.

IRISH ARE STILL COMPLACENT

"Asquith as a Prime Minister has, of course, the final word; but Asquith is a shaken reed for the Radicals to lean on. He has never been with them heartily for years. A Non-Conformist and a member of the middle class, he suddenly found himself in the atmosphere of London society, and that has ruined many a good Radical before."

So speaks T. P. O'Connor in his latest weekly budget to the Chicago Tribune. He continues along the same line: "Thus one by one the Radicals have been diminished in number and in power, until the Cabinet consists only of Lloyd George, John Morley, John Burns and Winston Churchill."

A trifling honor has turned the heads of less brainy men than Asquith. The Irish in America wonder what will happen should similar or higher honors come to George, Morley, Burns or Churchill!

Says O'Connor again: "Of all this Ireland is for the moment an interested and pathetic observer. It is too absorbed in its own affairs and difficulties. The situation is tense. The feeling of disquiet has become universal; and unless the House of Lords and the landlords accept Birrell's bill, it is impossible to say what violent outburst of revolt may come."

"The landlords are talking loud, and for the moment are doing their best to convince Birrell that they will have enough to do with their measure. How much of this is bluff it is difficult to say. But the curious state of affairs in the Liberal ranks, with the growth of jingo feelings in England, with the uncertain prospects of all English parties, it is difficult to say how Ireland will come out."

It was a situation which called for large, heroic treatment. Capt. Huz said, "and it is to the credit of the Italian army and navy that so successful a policy was adopted. Visitors to Messina have charged that they saw sailors and soldiers doing nothing when they might have been at rescue work. These critics did not consider that a man must not let human endurance has its limits. It is cruel and outrageous to say that these gallant men did not work bravely, conscientiously and efficiently to the best interests of the earthquake sufferers."

This aspect of the future relations of the Liberals and Irish is brought to a test at the by-election in Glasgow. The Irish have barely 2,000 votes, and Gibson Bowles, the Liberal candidate, can not win in any case, but defeat is certain without the Irish vote.

In Dublin recently a solemn decision was reached to put to every Liberal candidate two questions: First, will he support the Irish Parliament and the Irish Executive? Second, will he make this the leading issue at the next general election?

A categorical yes to both questions is absolutely necessary to get the Irish vote and no compromise now is possible. Probably the Liberal candidates now will accept the new situation, but in case any will not the Irish will hand over the seat to the Tories, giving the necessary lesson to the Rosebery wing of the Ministry.

STRICTLY BUSINESS

Was Meeting of Division 4 at the Ante-Lenten Session.

Considering the weather and the proximity of Lent, the meeting of Division 4, A. O. H., Monday night was a big success. President Hennessy wielded the gavel, complimented the members on their attendance and reminded them that it was the anniversary of Washington's birth. The number of members ill was larger than usual. Jerry Hallahan has not recovered from recent injuries, and John Martin, William Reardon and James Lyons were added to the sick list.

The division donated liberally toward the repainting of the statues in St. Louis Bertrand's church. John P. Mellon, Michael Ruhan and Thomas Langan were warmly greeted when they made their respective appearances after long absence from meetings. Vice President Thomas Lynch urged the division to make an effort to secure fifty new members before St. Patrick's day. State Secretary William J. Connelly made a talk along the same line, and urged every member to hustle to build up the division. A chapter of Irish history was read and was enjoyed by all present. Hereafter a chapter will be read at each meeting.

It was decided to give an entertainment immediately after Lent, and the following committee was named to make the arrangements: David Reilly, W. J. Connelly, Thomas Flahive, John P. Mellon, Robert Mitchell, Stephen J. McElliott, William Bennett, George Hackmiller, Thomas Langan and James Keane.

LAUDS ITALIANS.

Captain of Relief Ship Celtic Tells About Messina Heroes.

According to a special cablegram from Rome to the Chicago Tribune, Capt. Huz, commander of the Celtic, the relief ship sent by President Roosevelt and the people of the United States, has had all his prejudices against the people of Southern Italy and Sicily removed. He was also prejudiced against the organization of the work of excavating, relief and help on the part of the Italian authorities. Capt. Huz has since been on the spot, and has revisited most of the stricken districts, and mixed with the people, interrogating many, and has reached the conclusion that no country could have done more or better. He especially is pleased with the admirable service rendered by the army and navy. As bad as everything is along the Calabrian coast, it is Messina, according to the commander of the Celtic, which was the seat of the greatest trouble.

An army Captain told Capt. Huz he had spent a whole night with a force of twenty men in rescuing one woman, but that it was absolutely impossible at that rate to dig out the 50,000 persons buried in the ruins, under the most favorable circumstances, within the first three or four days after the disaster. A few more lives might have been saved, but that would have been at the expense of all the organized work and would have created infinitely more suffering and could not possibly have relieved the situation.

"It was a situation which called for large, heroic treatment," Capt. Huz said, "and it is to the credit of the Italian army and navy that so successful a policy was adopted. Visitors to Messina have charged that they saw sailors and soldiers doing nothing when they might have been at rescue work. These critics did not consider that a man must not let human endurance has its limits. It is cruel and outrageous to say that these gallant men did not work bravely, conscientiously and efficiently to the best interests of the earthquake sufferers."

REAL FORTITUDE.

Catholic Doctrine Is Soother of the Greatest Griefs.

A fireman's post being sometimes as dangerous as a soldier's, New York City provides for fire department chaplains. Father William S. Smith, Chaplain of the New York firemen, has a warm place in the hearts of the men. This episode will illustrate his instant intuition of the right thing at a crisis when souls are tried by tribulation.

A man was killed in a fire. Father Smith was charged to break the news to his widow. On recognizing him, she immediately concluded that something had occurred. "Oh, Father, has my husband been injured? Is he dead?" The woman then broke down and became hysterical and beyond control. There was also present a reporter, who tried to calm her, but without success. "Leave her to me," said Father Smith. He then told the woman to kneel with him and recite the Our Father. They knelt, and when they had reached the words, "Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven," the full import of them came upon her and actual understanding as to their meaning. She regained her self-control and turning around said, "Well, Father, if he is dead, God's will be done."

On Thursday the Right Rev. Edmund M. Obrecht, Abbot of Gethsemane, left for the Holy Land. He left Louisville on Friday, spent several days in New York and on Thursday sailed for Havre. ENCOURAGED.

Success of Division 3's Last Social Encouraged the Members.

Able Addresses Were Made by Many Visitors and Members.

Bright Prospects Enthuse All to Greater Efforts in the Future.

SOME OLD FAMILIAR NAMES

The stag social session given by Division 3, A. O. H., Thursday night of last week was a pronounced success. Every division in Louisville was represented, while Jeffersonville sent County President Kenny to show its appreciation of the invitation to attend. President Patrick T. Sullivan presided at the preliminary business meeting, and of course the necessary routine matters were disposed of as rapidly as possible. The Visiting Committee reported Daniel Murphy, who had been ill, able to be back at work; M. J. Carroll as improving, and James Broderick ill. One new member was obligated and Financial Secretary Hession had his hands full receiving dues.

D. J. Coleman was called to the chair to preside over the social session, which he did with the greatest success. He introduced Attorney Thomas Walsh, who said that he had not come prepared to make a speech, but to hear others speak and to partake of the refreshments. In his explanation he delivered a very happy and stirring address. He said he was both surprised and gratified at the large attendance, which indicated activity and progress on the part of the members. After surveying the faces of those present he said he had decided to say a few words, because he had heard that George J. Butler, James Barry, William M. Higgins, James Coleman and Patrick T. Sullivan would continue to make Irish and Hibernian speeches after they reached heaven. He intended to have his say now.

Mr. Walsh spoke enchantingly about those who pushed the order, and told of the good qualities of the men who have been the real wheelhorses in Louisville Hibernian circles. He praised those who had left their cozy homes to walk through sleet and bad weather to Hibernian meetings. Men like this, he said, instilled the real feeling of brotherly love, and inculcated sentiments that were the foundation of Hibernianism. The younger men were inspired by the example of their elders, and became better Irishmen and better American citizens.

Hibernians care not for the man with wealth, except to know that he is a true Irishman, and that he is doing his duty to the station in which God has placed him. It was this class, he said, that formed the stable foundation of the Government. Michael McDermott and Charles Callahan, representatives of Division 4, made brief addresses and in all present to attend their meetings. James P. Barry was called upon for a speech, but instead read an interesting chapter on the life of Robert Emmet.

State President George J. Butler welcomed the visitors on behalf of the division, and said the large attendance indicated a rosy outlook. He said additions to the divisions all over the State were being constantly made, and announced that the time had arrived to organize more thoroughly. President Butler also spoke encouragingly for the teaching of Irish history in the parochial schools. The work, he said, was progressing in Kentucky as elsewhere in the United States, and this work would eventually lead England to grant justice and self-government to Ireland. He also spoke about the banquet to be held at the Galt House on St. Patrick's day.

President Thomas Keenan, of Division 1; County Vice President Joe Lynch; Patrick Holley, one of the old Presidents of Division 3, and James Coleman, a veteran member of the division and for several years State Secretary of the order, made short but interesting talks. Nicholas Sheridan, who had been absent for some time, said he felt like the prodigal son. Former County President Thomas Quinn made a humorous address, and Lawrence Mackey spoke words of encouragement to the men who had arranged such a splendid gathering of Irishmen.

Martin Sheehan, who secured the greatest number of members during the last year, came in for a fair share of laudation. John Kenney, of Jeffersonville, told how glad he was to be there, and others who spoke were Dan Dougherty, John Hession, James Doran, Phil Cavanaugh, M. J. Ford, John Kain, James McCue and Tom Kennedy. The last named speaker predicted that Division 3 would be the banner division in the city. Officer Patrick T. Mullen, Tom McCarthy and James Treiston also made brief addresses. Five new applications were received during the evening, and refreshments were served with lavish hand.

On Thursday the Right Rev. Edmund M. Obrecht, Abbot of Gethsemane, left for the Holy Land. He left Louisville on Friday, spent several days in New York and on Thursday sailed for Havre. After some time spent in France the Abbot expects to go, as ordered, to Palestine, where he will inspect the monasteries of his order. Easter he expects to spend in Rome.

TIMELY PHILIPPIC.

That the Catholic church yields influence was never more in evidence than today. One example ought to suffice. Archbishop Farley denounced the moral tone of some of the present stage productions, and immediately the New York papers and magazines applauded his Grace. Since then newspapers elsewhere have taken up the cudgel in defense of decency on the stage. The Herald of Syracuse says:

"Archbishop Farley's attack in his sermon of Sunday last on some of the plays that are occupying the boards in New York City has aroused an interest that may fairly be called sensational. He characterized them as 'orgies of obscenity.' The Archbishop did not specify the objectionable plays, and for this he has been criticized on the ground that his indictment might injure reputable playhouses. The average newspaper man will not be at a loss to understand the reason why the Archbishop deemed it advisable to 'name no names.' It he had blazoned the list from his pulpit it would have raised to an irresistible pitch the curiosity of a certain class of playgoers; it would have meant a rushing business for each of the discredited theaters, and the managers of the 'orgies of indecency' would have laughed in their sleeves. It is a similar consideration that often restrains newspapers from condemning plays that richly deserve it. As a moral teacher, however, the Archbishop was constrained to give expression to his righteous indignation; and we do not believe that the decent and wholesome drama has anything to fear from his justifiable philippic.

"That it was justifiable is pretty convincingly demonstrated by the statement of Charles M. Burnham, President of the Theatrical Managers' Association of the metropolis, in which he deprecates the filthiness of certain plays now running in that city. Mr. Burnham does not specify the plays any more than the Archbishop, but there are said to be five or six of them.

"Of course, the managers of the offensive plays are out with their familiar defense and apology, to the effect that dramatic pabulum of this obnoxious character is supplied because there is an active demand for it. The same kind of excuse might be offered by the keeper of a gambling or immoral resort or by an utterer of counterfeit money. It is tantamount to defending theatrical vice on the ground that theatrical vice is profitable. It is all a disheartening revelation of depraved social taste. Nevertheless, the influence of men like Archbishop Farley is the chief reliance for its ultimate amendment."

USE OF PROFANITY.

The glutton who eats too much feels that he has some satisfaction. So does the intemperate man who drinks too much. The lazy man enjoys his sloth. The lewd and lascivious get certain physical satisfaction from their sins. The murderer thinks he has avenged a wrong and is satisfied. The employer who pays his employees not what they are worth, but what he can get them for, gets a certain satisfaction out of his greed for gold, even though he knows he is guilty of one of the sins crying to heaven for vengeance. Yet there is one sin greater than all these, more common, and at the same time one that yields no satisfaction to the man who commits it. What satisfaction, what recompense can the profane man expect? The misuse of the holy name of Jesus, the calling upon God to witness idle statements, any sort of profanity or obscenity, has no part in the scheme of human existence.

The Catholic church has always combatted this evil. Before the dawn of the Christian era God gave the commandments to Moses on Mount Sinai, and the second was: "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain."

The Holy Name Society was particularly organized to combat this evil, and during the last thirty years has done a great work. Here in Louisville we have only one branch of the society. In the New England and Eastern States there are branches in nearly every parish. Why should the West and the South allow the Eastern States to have a monopoly on gentlemanliness? No gentleman will swear.

SPOKE TO NON-CATHOLICS.

The Right Rev. Bishop Keane, of Cheyenne, Wyo., delivered a series of lectures to non-Catholics at Denver, Col., and it is estimated that no less than 50,000 persons heard his instructive remarks on the various nights. The series was under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus of Denver. Old prejudices were destroyed, and many good people who had erroneous notions regarding the church learned to take a broader and more comprehensive view of Catholic doctrine. Bishop Keane's efforts were appreciated by Catholics and non-Catholics alike.

WELCOME HOME.

Every American ought to feel a pride in the return of the fleet after its circumnavigation of the globe after a voyage of fourteen months. The voyage was accomplished without any untoward incident or unfortunate disaster, and it was an educational trip to officers and seamen. More than that—it was a lesson to both younger and older nations, because it taught them that Americans do things. The appearance of the battleship fleet and the behavior of men and officers in the various ports did more to impress the natives with American power and dignity than our entire diplomatic service.

Gov. Willson was reminded very soon that he has made a mistake, just as wiser men have made mistakes. He has appointed a number of delegates to a Child Labor Conference of the Southern States, which is to be held at New Orleans, March 29, 30 and 31. He failed to name as delegate even one Louisville man who has sons or daughters working in factories.

Hon. William Jennings Bryan, in an interview at Denver, announced that he was a tentative candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination in 1912. He bids fair to make $100,000 a year as a tentative candidate, and the people will be satisfied if he continues to be no more than a candidate.

Those in charge of the famous liberty bell at Philadelphia refuse to allow it to be taken to Seattle, Wash., lest the cracks in the metal will grow larger and the bell split in twain. The bell did good work and its reverberations on July 4, 1776, are still sounding in the ears of tyrants.

The latest news from Berlin is that Kaiser Wilhelm is intent upon finding work for his surplus of noblemen in Germany in the wilds of Africa. Does he think they are up to Roosevelt's standard, or is he patterning after the great American President?

The Louisville Evening Post has not replied to the call for a show down in the courageous and efficient record of Robert Foster. Often silence is golden.

Louisville lost a public spirited citizen in the death of Nathan M. Uri. As Oliver O'Grady would say, "He served his country and he loved his kind."

WISELY CHOSEN

Were the Directors of the Catholic Woman's Club On Monday.

The members of the Catholic Woman's Club held the annual election of directors on Monday night at the club house, 615 West Walnut street. The new directors are Mesdames P. S. Gans, Edward O'Connor, B. D. Mattingly, D. F. Murphy, Charles Smith and Miss Maggie Judge. The officers will be elected by the directors Monday afternoon, and it is hoped that Miss Maggie Judge can be prevailed upon to re-assume the duties of President.

The Catholic Woman's Club was organized about seven years ago, and the late lamented Father Bouchet was the prime mover and gave the organization much time and attention. Since then similar organizations have been formed on similar lines in various cities, and all are working well.

THE ELOQUENT IRISH.

The well known journalist, W. T. Stead, in a recent magazine article, pays the following tribute to Irish oratory: "The Irish are much the most eloquent of the English-speaking nations. Even in America, William J. Bryan is of the Irish descent. In the eighteenth century the great Parliamentary orators, Burke, Sheridan, Grattan, Curran, Flood, were all Irish. In the nineteenth, Plunkett, Shiel, O'Connell, Magee, A. M. Sullivan and Sexton, all stand in the front rank. In the present Parliament, John E. Redmond, T. P. O'Connor and T. M. Healy are the most effective speakers."

SOCIETY.

Mrs. R. I. Nugent and children have gone to Florida to spend a month.

Mrs. J. D. Danahy, of Indianapolis, is the guest of Mrs. W. T. Speak for a few days.

Miss Lizzie Ball, of New Haven, is here to spend several weeks with friends.

Miss Annie McGill will arrive home next week after spending a fortnight in New York City.

Miss Loretta Fitzgibbon and Francis Fitzgibbon have returned from a visit to Shelbyville.

Thomas Hogan, of South Louisville, left Sunday for New Orleans to witness the Mardi Gras festivities.

Mrs. J. P. Connor, of South Louisville, has been spending the week with relatives at Bardonia.

Miss Mary Cole, of Jeffersonville, has gone to Terre Haute, where she is the guest of Miss Edna Wright.

Miss Ollie Cambren spent last week at New Haven as the guest of her cousins, Misses Rebecca and Jennie Nevitt.

Miss Virginia Kenney, of Jeffersonville, is spending a week in Lexington, where she is the guest of Mrs. H. N. Cook.

Col. Harry B. Driver, his wife and little son William, returned home Monday after a pleasant stay at West Baden Springs.

W. Simpson, a prominent citizen of Russellville, was this week the guest of John W. and James Simpson, of 4112 Third street.

Miss Mary Winifred Speak entertained Friday night in honor of Miss Ethel Pruitt, a charming visitor from Columbus, Ohio.

Mrs. Mary McDevitt and her sons, Coleman and Charles, are enjoying their stay in Tucson, Ariz., and all are in excellent health.

Mrs. T. J. O'Brien and daughters, Misses Mamie and Margaret, who have been visiting friends in Indianapolis, have returned home.

Mrs. Michael Thornton and daughter, of New Albany, visited Mrs. Thornton's brother, Thomas Tiley, and his family at Cincinnati this week.

Carl Newton and bride, who was Miss Nellie O'Brien, of Howard Park, have returned from their wedding trip and are at home to friends on Miller avenue.

Miss Nellie Kenney, of 2254 Frankfort avenue, who has been seriously ill, is convalescing rapidly, and her friends expect her complete recovery within a few days.

Mrs. Ben J. Sand, of 2745 Bank street, spent several days at Indianapolis this week, while there she was the guest of friends and the guest of honor at several social functions.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lager, 312 North Twentieth street, celebrated the first anniversary of their wedding last night. Many of their friends called and were given a cordial reception.

Mrs. George Ziz entertained at her home in Clifton on Washington's birthday both afternoon and evening. All her guests enjoyed a good time and several handsome prizes were distributed.

Mrs. August Oetken, mother of John Oetken, of New Albany, has been seriously ill in her home in that city for several weeks, but her many friends hope she will soon reach the convalescent state.

Mr. and Mrs. John Clark, 1033 West Broadway, entertained with a most delightful euchre and refreshments in honor of Miss Maggie Burke, of Bowling Green, who was last week the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Reid, 1123 West Broadway.

Albert Binford and his sister, Miss Irene Binford, went to New Orleans for the Mardi Gras festivities, and are expected home next week. Miss Binford spent the greater part of the winter at Ocean Springs, Miss., as the guest of Captain and Mrs. J. M. Lowe.

Miss Marie Keely, of 1116 Rogers street, who has been ill for several weeks with typhoid fever, is steadily improving and her complete recovery it is hoped will be but a short time distant. Miss Keely is a most charming young lady and is a popular favorite in the Highlands.

A most delightful surprise party was tendered David J. Maloney at his home, 2020 West Broadway, on Thursday of last week. A very enjoyable evening was spent by those present. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Maloney, proved to be delightful host and hostess, and provided an excellent luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Smith, who were married at the Cathedral of the Assumption by the Rev. Father Rock on Thursday of last week, will be at home to their friends at 414 East Walnut street after the middle of March. They are spending their honeymoon in the South. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Cammiss.

Miss Nellie Heaney, of St. Louis, has made many friends during her brief sojourn in Louisville, and on Washington's birthday a number of her admirers surprised her with a mask dance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McGrath, 1033 Seventh street. Mrs. McGrath proved a most delightful hostess and regaled her guests with a delicious luncheon.

Miss Amelia Anna McBride was the hostess at a George Washington party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Misses Blanche Gorman, Loretta Cassidy and Messrs. David J. Maloney and Henry A. Vissman. Covers were laid for eighteen and guests were Misses Blanche M. McGrath, Imelda Sheen, Regina Haffner, Loretta Cassidy, Regina McCrory, Blanche Gorman, Hattie Hurst, Mary Hurst, Mary Kieffer, Marie McBride, RECENT DEATHS.

The remains of Dennis and Thomas Fitzpatrick, which have reposed in St. John's cemetery, Portland, for several years, were removed to this St. Louis cemetery on Thursday.

Miss Carrie Ellen Warren died at her home, 608 East Breckinridge street, Monday evening, and her funeral took place from St. Mary Magdalen's church on Thursday. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Warren and beloved by all who knew her.

The funeral of Miss Edna Pfannmoeller, who died at the home of her father, Charles Pfannmoeller, 2904 Garland avenue, Sunday night, took place from St. Charles Borromeo church Wednesday morning. The deceased was twenty years old, and a most lovely young lady. Death resulted from tuberculosis, from which she had suffered for six months.

The remains of Patrick Lamin, a railroad brakeman who was accidentally killed at Tilden, Ill., Saturday night, arrived in Louisville Monday and were taken to the home of his sister, Mrs. Joseph Meahan, 1368 South Sixth street. The funeral took place from St. Louis Bertrand's church Tuesday morning. The deceased was twenty-eight years old and a native of the Dominican parish.

Thomas Cummings died at his residence, 1406 Quincey street, Tuesday night as the result of cerebral hemorrhage. His wife and seven children, two brothers, John and William Cummings, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Spieth, of Jeffersonville, survive him. His remains were sent to the residence of his father-in-law, C. Meisenholder, New Albany, and the funeral took place from Holy Trinity church on Thursday morning. His demise is regretted by many warm friends in the three Falls Cities.

The funeral of Henry Kassenbrock, who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Minnie Seifried, 3614 Bank street, last Saturday, took place from the Church of Our Lady in Portland on Monday morning. The deceased was a native of Germany, but came to America when quite a youth and had lived in Portland for more than half a century, and was highly esteemed by all who knew him. His wife, three sons and four daughters survive him. The daughters are Mesdames Nellie Benson, Minnie Seifried, Mary Diehl and Rose Bennett. The sons are Officer Edward Kassenbrock and Louis and William Kassenbrock.

LUCKY WINNER.

Miss Rose Shee, of 2254 Frankfort avenue, won the subscription to the Kentucky Irish American donated by Philip E. Kelly as a prize at Mrs. Ziz's euchre on Monday evening.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

Division 1 will meet next Tuesday night.

Thursday will be the regular meeting night for Division 3.

A great crowd attended Division 2's euchre on Friday night of last week.

Division 4 has two teams of five men each contesting for new members.

The reading of Irish history at the division meetings has proven an interesting feature.

Edward Collins, the County President at Claremont, N. H., is organizing a juvenile division.

At Claremont, N. H., the Ladies' Auxiliary has organized a sewing circle, and meetings are held every week.

Several pool experts, members of Division 4, are going to issue a challenge to the other divisions for a series of match games.

Wednesday is the night for the Ladies' Auxiliary, and a large crowd is expected, as reports on St. Patrick's day celebration are due.

State President George J. Butler and State Secretary William J. Connelly are certainly making reputations for efficiency in their respective offices.

Division 4 of Syracuse is making an effort to reach the highest possible membership before March 17. At the latest meeting twenty candidates were initiated.

The State Board of the Ladies' Auxiliary of New Hampshire met at Dover, and an interesting feature was a lecture on John Boyle O'Reilly by Mrs. Katherine O'Keefe O'Mahoney.

Toronto Hibernians are preparing for a big celebration of St. Patrick's day, and many New Yorkers will cross the borders to help their Canadian brethren in observing the day.

March 4 is the anniversary of Robert Emmet's birth, but the County Board of Onondaga county, New York, will celebrate the event with musical and literary exercises a week from tomorrow night.

Officer Thomas O'Neill, one of the most efficient men ever in charge of Central police station, and a veteran Hibernian, is seriously ill at his home on Twelfth street, near Main. His friends hope for his speedy recovery.

It is unofficially announced that the Right Rev. Bishop McFaul, of Trenton, will not accompany National President Cummings to Ireland. In this case that one of the priests from the archdiocese of Boston will probably be the delegate.

The County Board of New York is planning the greatest St. Patrick's day celebration ever held on Manhattan Island.

Division 24 of New York City celebrated Lincoln's birthday by initiating seven new members.

At Mahony City, Pa., the order is up in arms against the St. Patrick's day post cards that are being offered for sale. The post cards are offensive because they misrepresent the Irish race, and dealers who expose these cards for sale have been requested to withdraw them or suffer through lack of patronage of the Irish people.

ANOTHER CARDINAL DIES.

A cablegram from Toledo, Spain, on Thursday brought the information that Cardinal Hervas, Archbishop of that province, died that morning.

Cardinal Hervas was born seventy-six years ago and was created Cardinal by Pope Leo XIII. in 1894. This makes another vacancy in the College of Cardinals, but at the next consistory another Spaniard will take his place. He was a friend of Cardinal Merry del Val, the present Papal Secretary of State, and a man of great learning.

VISITED CAPITAL.

P. H. Callahan and his charming wife, who have been on an extended Eastern trip, spent several days in Washington last week. On Friday they visited Representative Ben Johnson at the Capitol, and were his guests in the members' gallery.

CHICKASAW'S ACTIVITIES.

Members of Chickasaw Council, Y. M. C. of Memphis, received holy communion in a body at St. Peter's church last Sunday. George H. Lawo, a veteran member of the council, has organized a dancing club, and its first effort was very successful.

FATE OF TRESPASSERS.

The number of trespassers killed by railroads annually is greater than the number of passengers killed in wrecks. The Pennsylvania railroad alone killed 1,500 trespassers within the last two years. If the aggregate of such deaths were obtainable it would probably astound the world.

CATHOLIC IRELAND.

The English Catholic Directory for 1900, just issued, shows the number of Catholics in Ireland to be 3,310,000. There are nine Catholic members of Parliament in Great Britain and seventy-three in Ireland. The Catholic population of the British Empire is given as 12,053,000.

BRIEF YET ENOUGH.

Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia, celebrated his seventy-eighth birthday last Sunday, and his most prized message was one from Pope Pius X. His Holiness' few words were momentous—"Blessings and felicitations."

BRONZ TABLET.

A bronze tablet commemorating the memory of Major Gen. John Sullivan and his victory at the battle of Rhode Island, August 29, 1778, has been placed in a niche in the niche in the capitol at Providence, R. I.

HEALTH GROWS BETTER.

Al Kolb, who has been suffering from acute indigestion for the past seven weeks, is on the high road to recovery, to the great relief of his family and friends.

MACAULEY'S THEATER.

"The Stronger Sex," with Miss Annie Russell in the stellar role, will be the attraction at Macauley's Theater during the first half of next week. During the latter half of the week Montgomery and Stone will appear with their former success, "The Red Mill."

HOPKINS.

The Hopkins' Theater will present its patrons a high class and more than entertaining series of motion pictures next week with splendid stage settings. Manager Dustin feels confident that the audiences will be laughing to their hearts' content, and Harry Browne's singing will continue a drawing card.

MOTION PICTURES.

The Princess Amusement Company will present next week at the Casino, Princess and Columbia a programme well worth seeing. They include new comedies, new dramatics, new educational subjects and pleasing scenic films. With the latest songs and lectures of the highest order they will give shows of much merit.

MASONIC.

Murray and Mack, two of the greatest Irish comedians on the American stage, whose popularity seems to be perennial with local audiences, come to the Masonic next week in "The Sunny Side of Broadway," a musical comedy which has scored a marvelous success in New Orleans and the South and which comes to Louisville for the first time. Boyle Woolfolk and Miss Ethel Bell, both Louisville people, and who are well known in local musical and society circles, will be the bright particular stars. Mr. Woolfolk is the composer of "The Sunnyside of Broadway," and Miss Bell is a daughter of Harry Bell, well known in local and New York newspaper circles.

BOWLING GREEN NOTES.

Miss Louise Grady and Miss Mary Hogan went to New Orleans for the Mardi Gras festivities, and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Monteleon. They are expected to return home next week.

Lawrence Moran has left Paris, Tenn., to accept a more lucrative position in the I. C. railroad shops at Somerset, Ky. His friends in Bowling Green are proud of his advancement.

Roger Connors, the locomotive engineer, who was injured in an accident at Memphis Junction, is improving and will resume his duties next week.

Miss Mabel Connors, of Nashville, and Miss Mamie Reid and Thomas Reid, of Louisville, were here this week to attend the Burke-O'Regan nuptials.

Mr. and Mrs. John Glenn have as their guests Mrs. Anne Henderson and her son James, of Louisville.

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

His parishioners lament the death of the Rev. John O'Callaghan, of Derry, after a brief illness.

Messrs. P. Hogan and J. Fallon were re-elected Chairman and Vice chairman respectively of the Roscommon Town Commissioners.

Galway Harbor Commissioners have decided to apply for a free grant of $200,000 for the purpose of improving the docks at Galway.

At the statutory meeting of the Boyle Town Commissioners recently Jasper Tully was unanimously elected Chairman for the ensuing year.

Alderman Coffey, Lord Mayor-elect of Dublin, has appointed as his Chaplain Very Rev. Father Paul, of St. Mary of Angels, Church street.

P. J. Shiel, an extensive wholesaler and retail merchant in Portadown, has been appointed to the Commission of the Peace for the County Armagh.

The death of the Very Rev. John O'Reilly, of Killesandra, is much regretted. He was one of the most popular priests in the diocese of Kilmore.

Judge Bird, at Bantry quarter sessions, was presented with white gloves, and he expressed his congratulation at the peaceful state of the district.

James Cremen, aged sixty, an employee of the Cork corporation, died suddenly at his residence, Donovan's square. He had been complaining of heart disease.

The collection initiated by the Most Rev. Dr. McHugh in the Derry diocese on behalf of the sufferers of the Italian earthquake has amounted to $1,100.

Walter John Joyce, of Portlanna, has been appointed Commissioner of Oaths for the County of Galway, in room of his father, T. Joyce, who resigned owing to ill-health.

It has been decided to light St. Patrick's Cathedral in Dublin by electricity, and Sir Thomas Drew has been requested to obtain estimates of the cost from a number of Irish firms.

A movement has been set on foot by the people of the United parishes of Castlemaryr, Mogeely, Duncorney and Clonault to erect a memorial to their late pastor, the Rev. M. Aherne.

The premises of P. McCaul, a provision merchant of Clones, were completely destroyed by fire. The coughing of a child being suffocated by the smoke gave the alarm to the inmates and all escaped.

Judge Curran, addressing the grand jury at Trim sessions, said as cattle-driving and incendiaryism still prevailed in the County Meath, he was unable to congratulate them, though there were only four cases to go before them.

The Magistrates at Tullamore petty sessions have granted an exemption order to seven licensed traders to open their premises one hour before the statutory time on fair days on the condition that they shall also supply coffee and tea.

It is reported that the poor in the parish of Ardstraw, County Tyrone, as well as in the village, are to benefit by the will of the late Mrs. Charles Knox, of Auckland, who left $20,000 for distribution amongst them. Relatives in the district will benefit to the extent of $5,000.

FANCIES OF FASHION.

The lace blouse when of good quality can hold its own with satin.

The neck ruff to match the hat is a great feature at the present moment.

A popular neck trimming is a wide ruching mounted on velvet ribbon bands.

Embroidered neck bands with wide ruchings attached continue to be popular.

In trimming feather effects lead. Huge roses are the favorite flowers for hats.

Decidedly smart looking waists are made in white fine wash mohair with collar, yoke and sleeve bands of a colored mohair.

Circular skirts are decidedly the thing once more. Many are made to escape the ground.

A stylish skirt is cut with twelve gores and has a pointed panel effect in the entire front.

The newest skirts are often faced for ten or twelve inches with silk, but no lining is used.

Coarse silk nets in colors are trimmed with bands of silk and buttons of the same shade.

A long coat may be used for so many purposes it is really more than a comfort—it is a necessity.

A practical skirt is made with bretelles and sleeve caps, for it can be worn with any old waist.

Velvet hats continue to be worn, though they are not so fashionable as they were some months ago.

Veils can be kept in trim condition by being folded and pinned after use and then placed in a sachet holder.

A popular form of hair dressing is to wave the hair all around. It is then tied at the crown, forming a soft puff on the back and sides.

Collars on waists continue to be high and with much ruching. The platings and ruchings not only top the collars but surround their base.

LENTEN SOUP.

Prepare three carrots, three turnips and three onions by scraping, peeling and washing. Slice them and sort them in a little fresh lard or drippings until a golden brown. Cut up a head of celery and put in and fry a few minutes. Add to this mixture two cloves, one teaspoonful salt, one-half teaspoon of mild pepper, a little parsley and a little grated nutmeg. Cover this with nearly three quarts of water and simmer for three hours. This may be used instead of meal broth in the Lenten season.

CLEANS SILVER.

First wash it well in hot soapy water, then apply a little whitening with a cloth wet with either alcohol or water. Let the whitening dry on the silver, then rub it off with a cloth or a piece of chamois leather, using a soft brush for corners or engraved work.

SAD LOSS.

Pioneer Resident of St. Michael's Mourned by Many.

St. Michael's parish lost one of its oldest and most respected members Thursday morning in the death of Mrs. Mary Garvey, who passed away at the family residence, 223 Brook street, after an illness of three months. Mrs. Garvey was the widow of Joseph Garvey, a well known tailor, who died eight years ago. Her surviving children, Thomas J. and Joseph M. Garvey and Mrs. Nora Garvey, all lived at her bedside when death called.

Mrs. Garvey was born in Ireland about sixty years ago, but came to America as a young girl. Here she married the late Joseph Garvey, and the ceremony was solemnized at St. Michael's church. There she worshipped ever since, and from there her funeral took place.

The deceased lady was widely connected in Louisville. Judge Patrick T. Sullivan, John J. Sullivan and David Garvey were nephews. Aside from her kindred she had a wide circle of acquaintances, and was noted for her charity and devotion to Holy Mother Church.

The requiem mass over her remains was celebrated at St. Michael's church this morning.

PLANS CHANGED.

Hibernians Desire to Centralize Their Ticket Sale This Year.

The committee of Hibernians in charge of the arrangements for the social celebration of St. Patrick's day has made several plans. One is that prior to the night of the banquet at the Galt House the tickets will be on sale only at the office of the County Secretary, Thomas Keenan, Jr., 1235 West Market street. Heretofore when the Hibernians gave banquets and placed their tickets on sale at different places it was impossible to tell until the last moment how many plates were to be provided. The committee has decided to sell their advance tickets at one place only.

Any Irish man or woman, or any American interested in the welfare of Ireland, can secure tickets for himself through the aid of a local Hibernian.

The banquet hall will be tastefully decorated for the occasion and several new speakers have been invited to respond to toasts.

OLD GUARD

Braved Weather to Make Mackin Council's Quorum.

Old Jupiter Pluvius and March Gras formed a combination that kept the majority of members from Mackin Council's meeting Tuesday night. But there were enough people who braved the elements and the jolly combined to form a quorum with President Kieffer presiding. The visiting committee reported that George Bartsch, Al Kolb and D. J. Humeel, who have been seriously ill, were improving. Edward Putz is reported dangerously ill.

The Opera Committee was reported organized with Thomas D. Clines, Chairman; Robert T. Burke, Vice Chairman; William T. Burke, Secretary and Treasurer. The committee was given full power to act. Chairman Clines announced that the former choral club would be ready to put on "Back From Town" during the month of May. It is one more of the admirable and tuneful compositions of Aulyn Kanston.

During Lent Mackin Council will meet every Monday instead of Tuesday evenings.

FRISCO DID NOT FORGET.

The San Francisco councils of the Young Men's Institute commemorated Washington's birthday most creditably last Monday. The mass of requiem for deceased members was celebrated in St. Mary's Cathedral. Rev. D. Mahoney, S. J., of St. Ignace College, delivered the sermon and special music was rendered by a select choir. In the evening the literary exercises were held at Christian Science Hall, which was taxed to accommodate the large gathering. Increased interest marks this annual celebration of Y. M. I. day.

AGAINST INDEPENDENTS.

On Tuesday the United States Supreme Court decided in favor of the Catholic church in the controversy over certain property in the Province of Rizal, Philippine Islands. The contention was between the Catholic church and the Independent church over the possession of the church property at Tombohong. The decision of the Supreme Court is a great victory for the church.

FORTY HOURS' PRAYER.

Forty Hours' adoration of the Blessed Sacrament will begin at St. Louis Bertrand's church at the late mass tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock. The sanctuary and altars will be appropriately decorated for the occasion, and several hundred boys and girls will take part in the solemn procession.

POOR CLARES APPEAL.

The community of Poor Clares, exiled from France, but now located in Prospect House, Lynnmouth, England, are sending appeals for aid to the charitable inclined people of the United States and England. Their appeals have the approval of the Bishop of Plymouth.

ACCUSED OF THEFT.

Werner Bros. & Co., of Akron, Ohio, notorious as labor union baiters, have been made defendants in injunction proceedings by the Encyclopedia Britannica Company. The defendants are accused of stealing the trade name and trade mark of the complainants. The matter will be threshed out in the United States Court.

FATHER KOENIG'S NERVE TONIC
Completely Cured by Only 1/2 Bottle.
Plantersville, Tex., Feb. 27, 1907. 12
For about 6 years I was afflicted with weak nerves. The doctors could not help me. I went to an asylum, the doctor there said my case was weak nerves and that my stomach was afflicted. I was treated there with electricity but was not fully cured as my means were insufficient. After further treatment I ordered one bottle of Father Koenig's Nerve Tonic and after I had taken only half the bottle I was completely cured.

JACOB WAGNER.
Springfield, Ky., March, 6th, 1908.
My father suffered for 15 years with fits and 2 bottles of Father Koenig's Nerve Tonic cured him entirely, and also cured my sister, and me another bottle for one of my cousins who is suffering from the same troubles. I cannot thank enough for what Tonic has done for my father and sister.

INAUGURATION

Day Attracts Many Kentuckians to the National Capital.

On Thursday next the Hon. William H. Taft will be inaugurated as the twenty-seventh President of the United States, and every State in the Union will send representatives to take part in the inauguration ceremonies. Mr. Taft is an able exponent of American doctrines, and has been tried and not found wanting. He served as Governor of the Philippines, in other diplomatic roles, and then as Secretary of War. In each of these roles he showed ability. The Republicans nominated him for President and he was elected. Kentucky will be well represented at the inaugural ceremonies. Friends of Senator William O. Bradley want to see him installed in the United States Senate, and the "Bradley special" over the C. and O., will be the largest train that ever left Kentucky for the national capital. The Kentuckians will leave the Seventh-street Union depot Tuesday and will arrive in Washington Wednesday. On the return trip they will leave Washington on Friday and arrive in Louisville on Saturday. There will be a train of twelve coaches with dining and baggage cars to accommodate all.

ACTING CHIEF.

Eugene O'Daly is making an admirable record as acting Chief of Detectives during the temporary illness of Capt. Thomas Maher. Capt. O'Daly is one of Louisville's pioneer peace officers, and has always insisted on the prefix "O." but many of the newspaper boys have not been as kind to the Captain as he has been to them. They spell it Daly over his protest. He knows news as well as he knows crooks, and none better than Capt. O'Daly knows when to give the news to a newspaper when it is good and ripe—not before.

ALMOST READY

St. Mary's-of-the-Knobs New Church to be Dedicated in May.

The new church of St. Mary's-of-the-Knobs, a few miles north of New Albany, is rapidly nearing completion and will be dedicated on Sunday, May 16. The new church is the third edifice built on the same historic ground. The original edifice was a log cabin erected by the hardy French pioneers more than a century ago. The Rev. Father Badin, Bishop Flaget, celebrated the holy sacrifice of the mass in that humble cabin. Later a brick structure was erected. Under the able management of the Rev. Father J. H. Hillebrand, now pastor of a flourishing congregation at Evansville, the parish grew rapidly, and when the Rev. Father Joseph Sermersheim took charge two years ago he found that a new and more commodious structure was absolutely necessary. His parishioners responded generously to his appeal with money, teams and actual labor. Now the new church has been built. It occupies a site on one of the highest knobs in Indiana and hundreds of Catholic families in the fertile valleys below feel pride in their new and imposing edifice.

TURNED DOWN.

Foster's Arrogance Loses Caste in the Assault on Lepping.

Henry Lepping was presented in the Police Court Wednesday on a charge of disorderly conduct preferred by Robert J. Foster, a policeman acting as Captain of the Fourth police district. As had been expected, Mr. Lepping was acquitted. On the witness stand Foster said he asked Lepping a question, and when a satisfactory answer was not given he "smashed him."

Mr. Lepping told a plain and straightforward story of his encounter with the lid-lifting Lieutenant, and had witnesses to corroborate his statement. A score or more of witnesses were on hand to testify to Mr. Lepping's good character and habits. Judge J. Wheeler McGee dismissed Lepping without comment on the case.

Foster expects to be in Washington next Thursday to witness the inauguration of President Taft. He is due back in Louisville on March 10 to answer an indictment for assaulting Henry Lepping. Foster's trial will be held in the Criminal division of the Jefferson Circuit Court.

Y. M. I. PATRIOTS

Royally Celebrated Birth of Washington in Hoosier Capital.

Sunday was a double celebration for the Y. M. I. at Indianapolis, and the seven councils of that city joined in honoring the memory of Washington by holding a street parade and initiating a class of 300 candidates. The procession was six blocks in length and traversed the principal thoroughfares in the Hoosier Capital. Every building along the route was profusely decorated with the American colors, and many had banners bearing the Y. M. I. motto—"Pro Deo, Pro Patria." The procession disbanded at the auditorium, where the initiation was held. In the evening the new and old members to the number of 600 enjoyed a banquet at which a number of patriotic addresses were delivered.

In the morning all of the Y. M. I. members and the candidates who were to be initiated attended mass in a body.

CATHOLIC SUMMER SCHOOL.

It is expected that the Catholic Summer School, New York State, will be better than ever this year. At the recent meeting of the Board of Trustees the Right Rev. Monsignor McMahon was chosen President. It was decided to hold the official celebration of the tercentenary of the discovery of Lake Champlain on July 4. Cardinal Gibbons, President Taft and other dignitaries of Church and State will be invited to assist at the exercises.

CLOSES SUCCESSFUL SERIES.

Lambert Young Council, Y. M. I., of Frankfort, closed a most successful social season with a reception and dance last week. Quite a number of visitors from Lexington, Paris, Georgetown and other neighboring towns were present. Several new and novel features were introduced and contributed to a very pleasant evening for the friends of this popular organization.

NATY NEW UNIFORMS.

S. A. Hilpp & Co., a local clothing firm, has been awarded the contract for furnishing the spring and summer uniforms for the members of the Louisville fire department. The uniforms are to cost $1,250 each, the lowest price in many years. Donned in their new garb the firemen will present a natty appearance.

ELIZABETHTOWN WEDDING.

Miss Nettie Berry and George McConnell were united in matrimony by the Rev. Father Hugh Daly at St. James' church, Elizabethtown, on Monday morning. The bride is the daughter of A. M. Berry, of Elizabethtown, and the groom is a rising young business man of Hodgenville.

TRUE-BLUES BALL.

The True-Blue Democratic Club will give its first grand mask ball at Phoenix Hill Hall on the evening of Monday, March 8. Only union musicians will be in attendance. The True-Blues are very strong and will no doubt have a large crowd.

QUARTERLY COMMUNION.

Tomorrow will be the quarterly communion day for the members of St. John's Conference of St. Vincent de Paul's Society.
